EYLF Belonging, Being and Becoming: benefits

1. Sense of identity; introduce children to alternate forms of literature and methods of reading through Twin Vision books. What matters is we 'can' read, not 'how'!
2. Connection to the world; meet characters with 'special needs' and experience their daily navigation of common tasks. Explore our diverse and inclusive community with respect, empathy and equity.
3. Wellbeing; we rely so greatly on our eyes. But eyes can get sick too, or injured. What are the implications of eye health? Lets 'look' at how life might change.
4. Involved learners; The best way to connect with Braille is with our hands. So let's do that! Children get to engage 'first hand' with Braille text, and creatively explore other areas Braille transforms everyday life for people with a vision impairment.
5. Communication; Sight dominates our communication and interaction with others. What happens if it's gone? Don't panic - that's where our magic fingers can help!
